Bloody City Is Bloodier

Miscellany

"Bloody Maria" was a name charged with meaning against a background of gunfire that left a police officer dead and five persons injured, arrested, accused of murder.

James Ford, who had belonged to Marian police force only five days, shot mortally wounded when he and fellow officers shot it out with two men, one of whom was a police officer. Ford had gone along only as a favor to another officer.

Chinese Communists promised to release two American airmen held prisoner since they made forced landing in territory near Tientsin nearly 19 months ago. Fliers are Charles C. Smith, of Long Beach, Calif., navy electronics officer, and Elmer C. Bender, of Cincinnati and Chicago, marine corps master sergeant.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said AFL is willing to meet with CIO leaders to form a new American organization of all forces and groupings of organized labor.

Green said he was responding to Murray's request for "unity of action among the several groups of organized labor."

World

Canadian foreign minister Lester Pearson reiterated in London Canadian view that time was not ripe for a Pacific pact, and the view is that if the situation and the circumstances there were the same as in the North Atlantic, then a pact would be needed—but it is not.

President Truman said his administration will push development of western United States over opposition of "reactionary forces" of privilege and greed, and the philosophy of "teapot dome."

President carried this day-and-night cross-country tour to the West, after telling an agricultural crowd at the University of California that the federal farm plan would help assure "peace and prosperity for ourselves and the world."

Cloak and Dagger

Russians under the apparent pressure of agreeing to hold a free election in greater Berlin, have ordered a drive to get western allied troops out of the city. Russian central commission in a note to the western allies said the Soviet government would agree to hold a free election, under international supervision, provided that all occupation troops were withdrawn.

Refugee Russian official has denied order to evacuate government and western power representatives a detailed report of Soviet espionage in Germany, and said this information cannot be disclosed, but on good authority it is said Soviet espionage in Germany is being exposed.

People

Lou Benshoff, 76, newspaper editor and publisher and long interested in conservation matters, died of heart attack at his Detroit Lakes, Minn., home Sunday.

After working for Detroit Lakes Record, Benshoff and A. T. Thompson formed partnership to purchase paper in 1930.

William Piersman Hamilton, 53, retired New York financier, and former partner of J. P. Morgan, died yesterday after a long illness.

Two anti-Communist Korean students, who say they face death in their homeland, have left their fight to obtain sanctuary in Canada. The two, Pong Cheung, 21, and Yong Wan Lee, 22, will sail from Vancouver at the end of this week aboard steamship Lake Manitoba. They will be landed at Yokohama, Japan, and then flown to Korea.

Tragedy

Pipeline Firm Officials Confer

President Dr. O. H. Howland of Interprovincial Pipeline Co. Ltd. is in Edmonton today for confidential talks with officials of the firm for construction of a 2,300-mile oil pipeline from Edmonton to Duluth, Minn.

Dr. Howland is also a vice-president of Imperial Oil Co. Ltd. with offices in Toronto.

With the pipeline president are J. C. Lantz, his special assistant, and J. P. Lockard, senior vice-president. They will be joined by New Jersey.

Winnipeg Mother Tells Pathetic, Heroic Story

Stories of heroism and pathos were told by an exhausted Winnipeg mother of three who arrived in Edmonton today.

When she and her family were evacuated by boat the water was up to the main floor windows of her two-story home. Since then the river has gone higher.

"I said our home will be lost," she said.

She smiled sadly as she looked up at the Alberta sunshine with her reunited family gathered around her.

SUNNY ALBERTA

"Sunny Alberta—how I love it. I think in the last six weeks we've only seen the sun once," she said.

"And doesn't it smell wonderful? This is the first time in all those weeks I haven't smelled rain and interlarded supervision, provided that all occupation troops were withdrawn."

Gigantic Job Faces Ruined Rimouski

City Begins To Rebuild In Wake Of $20 Million Fire

RIMOUSKI, Que., May 9.—(CP)—The Monumental job of re-organizing the shattered life of this fire-devastated city is under way, and some optimism arose by announcement of plans to rebuild.

Roman Catholic religious orders have announced they plan to rebuild some Rimouski's seminary, the hospital, the orphanage and the people's home.

"These were among more than 30 buildings destroyed in the $20,000,000 holocaust which last week-end left 2,500 homeless."

As 150 army troops from the Quebec City garrison maintained order and kept looters at bay for five days, hundreds of supplies poured into the city today.

From the United States, Quebec and Ontario came some donations of food, supplies and more clothing.

"Though plagued with disaster still, Rimouski reached out in sympathy to another disaster-stricken part of Canada—flood-ravaged southern Manitoba."

OFFERS ASSISTANCE

Rimouski council last night adopted a resolution extending its "deepest sympathy" to flood-battered Winnipeg, and it vowed to resist to any way it could.

Manag. Leopold Caron said there might be some supplies which Rimouski could turn over to Winnipeg if they were required there.

Insurance underwriters here announced a setting of federal-territorial fire insurance fund. Rimouski—where the fire was the worst—was to be a battle—to speed up adjustment of claims for those who lost.

A Quebec department store announced in big newspaper that it would make donations of any order from the homeless refugees or from anyone buying for them.

The Red Cross, appealing for help, announced an assistance, announced that six French stations affiliated with or part of the CBC's French network would flash appeals free of charge at fixed intervals.

PREMIER DUPLESSIS launched a relief-fund campaign, started with an anonymous $50,000 donation.

City manager Garon said Price Brothers plan to rebuild their big department store on the site. There is even talk that some temporary establishments will be set up to provide employment.

The city council has decided to place the city hall on St. Germain Street into a broad boulevard.

Local council members have talked of starting a housing co-operative. Arrangements have been made to relocate some of the city's visitors, the curious and looters.

Still pouring into Winnipeg this morning.

Eight hundred army food trucks from Calgary and Chilliwack, B.C., arrived here today. They were to be used to move food from Halifax to Vancouver and from United States cities.

NEW CREST TRAIL

With much of southern Manitoba already called a "real no man's land," flood control authorities warned for the second time in as many days that a 12-foot wall of water might crash through Winnipeg's remaining dikes "at any time."

This city of some 300,000 persons sheltered an estimated 7,000 refugees, most of them from suburban areas washed out when nine dikes burst. About 5,000 persons have fled outlying areas.

More than 1,800 soldiers and thousands of volunteers bolstered the thin-walled dikes. They bagged walls, but driving raised the river up to 101 feet above the 135-foot minimum flood level.

NINE-INCH RISE

It rose nine inches yesterday, though mass evacuation from sections of the city. Water was up to the eaves of suburban homes.

Authorities said a second crest was bearing down on Canada's fourth largest city from the United States border. It was 140 feet high and rising.

Sides Taken In Ruction Over Church

Temper flared last night as opposing factions told City Council the verity of alleged disturbances and threats at Sunday's ordination of a Ukrainian priest at St. John's church.

But aldermen decided to sit tight as the church, they are now frightened with construction of the church.

"Residents of the 110 avenue and 107 street area are no longer apprehensive about construction of the church, they are now frightened after Sunday's sit-down," said Neil D. Maclean, A.C.

He presented a petition signed by 64 property owners protesting construction of the church, which would be built on 200 cars and trucks had jammed the area Sunday.

But that wasn't the worst—there were threats made to the owners, and police were sent for and attended.

Mr. Miku, representing the Ukrainian congregation, said there was "very little" in Mr. Maclean's charges that it had been an unusual event, with the archbishop and visitors from many parts of western Canada.

EVERYTHING POSSIBLE

A number of Canadian Legion members, experienced in traffic control, had done everything possible to sort out traffic.

The Commission for the Ukrainian church had been called to the scene, and he quoted the constable as saying there was only one action in which he interfered. It had been smoothed over.

Mr. Miku said he had been in on it. It had started by a property owner parking his car in such a way that it blocked the way of Mr. Miku's and another car, and then telling the two drivers in a vulgar manner to move.

NO PARKING were told that when the church is completed, there will be no parking for cars. The site involves three lots for parking.

When it came to council conducting in its previous motion (of last meeting) to not interfere with the church's building plans, only Ald. Fred Mitchell voted against the action.

Traffic Plan Needed

Complaints about inadequate service to the railway stations, about left turns at 100 street and Jasper avenue, about the synchronization of stop lights and countless other items of traffic control indicate that Edmonton requires very badly some overall plan of traffic development and some co-operation between those who are in charge of it.

If local officials find themselves unable to draft that plan, it is time to call in traffic experts were brought in to make a complete traffic survey and lay down the basis for a comprehensive traffic program.

The traffic situation in Edmonton at the present time is not good. Not only are some details as left turns at busy corners, bus service to railway stations and the synchronization of lights overlooked or delayed, but there appears to be no joint action by departments concerned in traffic control.

The engineer's department frequently blocks off streets to divert traffic without notifying the city police.

Prevention of River Flooding

It is all very well to offer sympathy to those who are suffering in the Red River floods as sympathy was offered to those who suffered in the Fraser River floods two years ago. The whole of Canada sympathizes in these disasters and every part of the country stands ready to help in any possible way.

But what is needed more than sympathy is some national engineering effort to prevent these recurring floods.

Something should be done to guarantee that they will not happen again.

The matter is too highly technical for any layman to offer definite advice or even make definite suggestions.

But common sense would seem to indicate that the advanced science of engineering could devise a means of water diversion that would provide more immediate and permanent security than the restoration of watersheds and the building of dikes.

Such a project has probably been delayed in Canada because the control of waterflood has definite international aspects.

On Making Speeches For Free

One Canadian newspaper qualifies for an order of gallantry in having the temerity to suggest, right out loud, that when local speakers are called upon to address luncheons and dinners, they should be paid for the job.

This sensible and timely proposal comes from the Fort Erie Times-Review which says:

"Nowadays, it is getting so that a dozen Canadians cannot sit down to lunch or dinner together without the self-imposed torture of having to listen to the speaker harangue them for twenty minutes or so on whatever happens to be his pet peeve. . . . Certainly, if the speaker is a professional, he should be paid for his services."

Professional speakers who travel from city to city do get paid, of course, for their labors.

Surely this is enough to establish the precedent that after dinner or after lunch

Road construction and road changes are frequently undertaken without reference to the town planner.

If there are a sample of Edmonton's traffic plan, it is time we got the whole matter straightened out. The Edmonton Bulletin pointed out a day or so ago, the fact that the Chamber of Commerce finds it necessary to step into the traffic picture indicates how poorly the civic administration is handling the traffic problem.

A comprehensive and far-sighted traffic plan is just as essential as town planning. Indeed, it is a vital part of town planning.

For nobody can plan a city without some control over traffic development.

And unless traffic development is planned intelligently and scientifically, most of our town planning effort will be wasted.

That is why a survey of some kind, local or by outside experts, has become a real necessity for Edmonton.

For example, the Red River rampage is caused, to some extent, by conditions in the United States.

Thus, whatever is done to control the flow of excess river water must be undertaken jointly by Canada and the United States if the results are to be effective and permanent.

Under these circumstances, the problem of river flooding is obviously not a matter for local or provincial governments.

It is a national question to which only a national government can co-operate with another national government to bring about the palliative results.

The spring floods cost millions of dollars worth of damage, threatening and destroying human and animal life, have become one of the top Canadian problems. The situation cannot be adequately met by anything less than the establishment of an international joint commission to study the causes of floods and to recommend engineering projects that will minimize their disastrous effects.

speaking is a job of work and not a mere relaxation.

There are speakers, as everyone knows, who are anxious to parade their oratory as a means of preening their egos. Their performances are seldom worth very much.

But there are other men and women who are eminent in their lines and who have an interesting story to tell.

There is more reason why these should contribute their time and experience and knowledge to a lunch or dinner than to a banquet. The reason is why a doctor or lawyer should hand out professional advice for free.

Nowadays, if after the dinner or after lunch speech has come to be something of a habit just like chess on apple pie or tobacco in an oyster cocktail.

If the guest performer received a reasonable fee for his services."

Professional speakers who travel from city to city do get paid, of course, for their labors.

Surely this is enough to establish the precedent that after dinner or after lunch

Job Wanted

Editor, Bulletin.—On the 12th Jan. 1950 I was admitted into the C. McNeish Hospital with a very severe case of dementia of which I am drawing a small army pension.

When I saw the DVA kin doctor he wanted to know what kind of work I was doing. Having told him this he insisted that I change my job in order to stay clear of oil and grease. He thought that the oil and grease was the reason why I was losing so much time from work. He said that he would take the matter up with the DVA.

A few weeks later I received a letter saying that I was to be paid a small sum of money for my services.

The DVA got in touch with my employer to arrange a different job for me.

A few days later I was advised by the DVA not to worry, that everything was OK. I was to have a different job and that everything was under control.

About Mounties

Editor, Bulletin.—Are you having fun? I hope so because I wouldn't want to think that you are deliberately trying to build up a resentment against the officers of the law.

I am still taking treatment from my DVA doctor and when I inquired about the Out-Patient Allowance this was refused.

A few weeks later I was told by the DVA that I got out and find myself a job and I was also advised by the DVA that I should make application for the unemployment insurance.

I have been out of work since April 26 and still no sign of work.

I have been standing the streets for over a week now and everywhere I ask for a job I am politely and very politely told that I am too old for their employment.

I am forty years old, married and have three darling children.

I would appreciate any suggestions especially from any of you old Jerry Nerves.

Break-Up Of Racial Colonies Proposed

By Webster

We place Indians on reservations. We permit Doukhobors to permit that a few of them should be sent to live there.

We do this in spite of repeated complaints and burnings and complete disregard for law and order.

We have made serious mistakes in the past. We face serious difficulties in the future. But we do not need to go on making mistakes.

At first blush the solution to the Doukhobor problem would be to ship the whole bunch out of the country. Unfortunately, that means a war.

We know that these people pay no attention to Canadian authorities. They are a lawless bunch. We will never stop those Doukhobor outbreaks in that way.

Even in jail, it appears that the group is allowed to live as a group, thereby keeping the faction alive and the fanaticism strong. We will never stop those Doukhobor outbreaks in that way.

We call the offenders, yet we permit the leaders and teachers, who have developed this fanaticism, to go free.

Everybody Adds Convicts But Federal Government

I have before me an application form for employment in the civil service of Canada.

It is an imposing document and it arouses in me a species of Surely only a superior mind could devise such searching questions.

For by the time an applicant for the civil service gets through with the 66 posing questions that compose

Before you can get into the civil service you must declare, among other things, whether you were ever in prison, whether you were ever in the South African nursing service and whether or not you can read and write.

Now this is all very proper and admirable.

But further perusing this list of questions, I came upon these:

"Have you ever been charged with an offence other than minor traffic violations?"

"What was the charge?"

"Were you convicted, fined, imprisoned or placed on probation?"

I am informed that if the applicant finds it necessary to answer any of these in the affirmative, he is not like a light.

One little slip and you are out. You don't like the civil service, just like that.

Unhappy Example

Now no one expects the government to fill the civil service with men and women who have done time in penal institutions.

Frankly, it would be unwise to admit to the civil service a process, now established to ensure that Canadian penalization is not every time and that every thief and forger and pickpocket who goes through the new penal system comes out with a halo and winter hat snow.

But a good many of them are fitted by this rehabilitation process to take a responsible place in society.

And proponents of the new penology are loud in their demands that the rehabilitation work done in prison can only be completed when employers consent to give these ex-convicts a second chance to prove their worth.

I have heard this said by the Canadian penitentiary system.

I have heard it echoed by the excellent John Howard Society.

And I believe it is true. There is absolutely no sense in stating that a man who has been in prison and then turning a cold back on him when he gets out.

But the thing that amazes me is this:

Why are private employers or labour urged to take former prisoners on when the federal government itself will have nothing to do with them?

Take a chance

Chances are that the penologist will readily admit that a certain percentage of former convicts will slip back to crime.

Therefore, any employer who hires such a person is always taking a chance.

The employer may steal or burglar or run away.

But, surprisingly, that percentage is exceedingly small.

And it becomes appreciable smaller when the former convict is treated like a human being.

Of course, the rehabilitation work done in prison can only be completed when employers consent to give these ex

Next Flood Peril In Fraser Valley

Melting Of Mountain Snow
Lags Behind, Commons Told

OTTAWA, May 9. (BUP)—Federal authorities, already working feverishly on aid to fire-stricken Rimouski, Que., and flood-ravaged Manitoba, turned an anxious eye today to British Columbia's Fraser Valley.

Reports reaching the capital from several West Coast sources predicted a flood problem on the Fraser Valley this year equal to that of 1948, when close to $10,000,000 damage was done.

George Chisholm, Liberal member of Parliament for Fraser Valley constituency, said recent weather conditions in his home district were precisely the same as they were before 1948. Fraser went on to range two years ago.

"But also this year," he said, "the snowmelt is rapid. Even on the lower slopes of the mountains, the snow hasn't started to melt away yet."

SLOW IN MELTING

E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops), who returned yesterday from the West Coast, said the Fraser River was not yet even running full.

"The water level is low, and there is snow still down as low as 3,000 feet. We usually count on the snow up to the 5,000 feet level being melted by this time of year."

"If it suddenly turns warm and the snow melts rapidly, the danger quickly, there will be real danger of a flood as bad, if not worse than 1948," Fulton said.

Government officials, told he reports of threatening conditions in the valley.

DANGER HOVERS

Norman May, chief of the water resources division of the river and development department, said that by this time of year, the river normally should be running full.

The late spring in the mountains might cause a sudden turn in the weather and send the river over the dikes.

Yesterday, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent revealed the government was ready to extend the same relief and reconstruction assistance to Manitoba as it did in 1948 following the Fraser Valley flood.

St. Laurent also announced payment of half the cost of emergency relief measures taken during the flood crisis and payment of 75 per cent of the reconstruction costs. The government paid a lump sum of $10,000,000 to British Columbia.

Bill Given For Pipeline

OTTAWA, May 9. (BUP)—The Senate, without debate, last night gave approval to the principle of a government measure which will allow for the construction of pipelines in Canada's National Parks.

The bill, explained to the chamber by Senator T. A. Cresser (L, Manitoba), now will go to the Senate natural resources committee for detailed study.

Senator Cresser said the pipeline provision provides the highest light of the government measure which amends the National Parks Act.

PREVIOUSLY BANNED

Previously, such construction in national parks was prohibited. If the measure passes both Houses of Parliament, it will mean a change in the law so that the pipelines may be authorized for construction in such Alberta parks as Banff and Jasper.

Senator Cresser explained that such construction may be necessary if a pipeline route is developed to take oil out of Alberta into southern British Columbia through the Kicking Horse and Yellowhead passes.

PRESENTATION of clock was made by H. T. O'Neill, vice-president, finance division, British American Oil Company, to Premier E. C. Manning as memento of yesterday's nod turning for company's big refinery at Edmonton.

$10 Million Refinery Started Here By BA

Premier Ernest C. Manning admits he is "toll-minded."

"One-third of the government's entire revenue comes out of the oil industry and it's natural for any government to keep a pretty close eye on where its money is coming from," he told a gathering of several hundred yesterday.

They had gathered to watch him turn the first sod for British-American Oil Company's $10,000,000 refinery on the old Lindsay farm, seven miles east of Edmonton.

"It was a small fire and the home owner put it out himself," he said.

He asked for a fireman to come and confirm there had been a blaze so he could collect from his insurance company.

He emphasized that it was "most important project" as the oil industry tried to keep pace with the need to export more of Alberta's growing supply of oil.

He said the refinery was an example of the big projects being undertaken in the province for the great volume of oil pouring from the wells of this province," Premier Manning said.

"The oil industry is thankful Alberta has an oil-minded premier," M. S. Berger, B.A. vice-president in charge of manufacture, told the gathering.

The Edmonton plant will include the most modern refinery developments.

His capacity initially will be two million barrels of crude oil per year.

FIREMEN'S VERIFICATION AWAITED

BERMINGHAM, Eng. May 9. (AP)—The fire department reported yesterday that it answered 5,543 calls in 1949—including one which arrived by mail.

It was a small fire and the home owner put it out himself," he said.

He asked for a fireman to come and confirm there had been a blaze so he could collect from his insurance company.

Serious Quarrel Reported Threatening Crosby Home

HOLLYWOOD, May 9. (UP)—Bing Crosby's brother and his attorney said today the singer and his wife have quarrelled seriously, and the squabble may lead to the end of almost a 20-year marriage.

But in Paris where he is in the midst of a "bachelor's vacation," Crosby said both his brother and the lawyer were wrong.

"I don't know anything about those reports," Crosby said in reference to claims he and his wife, Dixie, were separating.

Ms. Crosby, the former screen actress Dixie Lee, could not be reached for comment. Telephone calls at her home here and at Bobbie Beach, Calif., and the Crosby Ekko, Nev., ranch went unanswered.

"We have nothing to say at this time," was the only comment by her attorney, Breton L. Mettler.

Statements by Larry Crosby and attorney John J. McElwain have confirmed persistent Hollywood rumors which said the star's marriage was on the rocks.

"They haven't signed any settlement papers—yet," said Larry

'Should Have Been 5-1'—McDonald

CALGARY.—The Stampede was a pretty glum lot in their dressing quarters when it was over. It wasn't so much that for the third time in four starts they had gotten their hands on the handle of the door. Rather, what had them down was the knowledge that for two periods, for better than half the game, they had enjoyed a wide edge.

"It should have been 5-1, maybe 6-1, at the end of the second," coach Byron (Butch) McDonald mused. He shook his head sadly at the thought.

Undoubtedly the Stampede mentor was giving his gang a little the best of it. But there was no denying that the Western Canada league champions were pounds the better team for 40 minutes.

"If you don't get on when you should, then they get 'em," shifty Roy Heximer chimed in.

No one mentioned Danny Lewicki. But that's how it is with most teams. They can find so many things for which to blame themselves that being effort usually there's no time to remember that the guys in the other dressing room were out there to win, too.

Probably a number of them weren't even aware that Lewicki, a sprout who played junior hockey most of the season, had fashioned all three Mariboro goals.

But Russ Dertell knew, make no mistake.

Dertell Played Great Game

Dertell had played magnificently. He was the Dertell of old, the puckster who had won CHL all-star recognition throughout the regular season.

For the first time in the series the easterners had come to realize what all the shouting over the Stampede watching had been about. Only Lewicki had this number.

But he wasn't saying a word as he sat in his old accustomed spot in the Stamp dressing room. Neither were most of the others. It might have been the wax-works, almost.

Archie Scott, too, shook his head at the thought of what might have been. You don't have to tell a hockey player when he has missed two or three scoring chances. He knows better than anyone else. The former Trail junior might have been a hero, had he made good on several opportunities that came his way.

Instead . . .

By contrast the Mariboro powder room was alive with hilarity, albeit somewhat restrained, considering that they need one more victory to wrap up the series.

"We'll make it in Edmonton Wednesday night," someone shouted loudly enough to be heard above the commotion. No one disputed it.

It was the man of the man of distinction, perhaps in Allan cup history, Danny Lewicki was busy getting ready for the street. But he posed for the eager photographers with that same indifference that he has still fits, despite all the ink that's come his way this season.

Lewicki's Hat Still Fits

A newhawk planted a cowboy hat on his head, asked his okay afterwards.

"How do I put it on . . . like this?" he wanted to know. He tilted the skypiece at a careless angle. "Shoot," he said.

They'll be using a lot of flash bulbs on this young man in the seasons to come, unless all the signs are wrong. Especially will the Mariboro people be looking at him in a Toronto uniform of some kind. In eight action-packed minutes he had shown Calgary hockey fans why Smythe had not been insisted, at the start of the current season, that he live up to the obligations imposed by the O'Form he had signed.

The Mariboros were in a hurry to get away. They were due out for Edmonton at 11:45. There was little time for back-slapping.

Right now it can be stated that Edmonton is going to get a great bang out of this Toronto team. Especially will the Mariboro people be looking at him in a Toronto uniform of some kind. In eight action-packed minutes he had shown Calgary hockey fans why Smythe had not been insisted, at the start of the current season, that he live up to the obligations imposed by the O'Form he had signed.

Sure, the Mariboros expect this maneuver a share of the time. But more often they carry that puck over the line. They are stickhandle and skate.

Bosox, Phillies Threaten Leaders

NEW YORK, May 6.—(CP)—It's getting mighty tough to stomp atop those major league baseball heaps. Both Detroit Tigers and Brooklyn Dodgers barely survived ninth-inning Tigers, ahead of Boston Red Sox, only by virtue of percentage points. The incoming Philadelphians, picking up speed on the Dodgers' trail, won a close 6-5 decision over Cincinnati Reds. Meanwhile, St. Louis Cardinals, third team in the National league, gave evidence they may be coming along as they slipped Boston Braves 10-3 in a wild hitting spree.

SENATORS SET FELLER

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland's Bud Feller with eight hits and a 6-3 victory in the other American League contest played Monday.

Art Houtmeier, 25-year-old Tiger pitcher, again appeared in the line-up in the fourth inning, winning the game at New York. It was his fourth win of the season against a single loss.

Host Evers led the Tiger attack, led by Vic Raschi with a two-run home in the ninth and a single in the fourth that scored George Kell.

Little Tommy Glaviano was the big man of the diamond when the Giants, trailing the Braves, Glaviano started things rolling in the first inning, doubling safely, going to third on Vern Riedinger's high throw.

STRAY PUCKS FROM CALGARY . . .

Arbour May Comeback, Lewicki Brightest Star

BY STAN MOHR

CALGARY, May 6.—Tony Desmarais and Jack Arbour, one-time big wheels in the Stampede marketplace, arrived at the rink in a dead-end. They "bowed" each other, before heading for their seats. Desmarais will be remembered as the free-wheeling forward, Arbour as one of the best liked fellows ever to come down the pipe. His many friends will be glad to know that he has made a nice comeback, after an illness that came his way while boozing the Stampede.

Stamps were the first out, led by Dertell and Archie Widen. "Just so its not on a cheque" was Widen's reply to a bystander's kidding remark. "I asked the rearward for his autograph," Harold Randall, a member of the AFA, bigwig, the centre of a group in the arena lobby.

Among the early arrivals was Wilson Dunn, starter on the prize circuit. The Vancouver horseman had been riding "a horse" for two years—old "he's working me to death," he said, grinning from ear to ear.

Julian Sawchuk, Stamp defender, limped off midway through the opening frame. Bill Gibney fell over him and raked up one of the Toronto net, as though Stamps had made good on one of their numerous sallies to Redmer's doorstep. However, it was all a mistake and the Cowboy's didn't even know he was in the crowd.

While a scrappy Armstrong served one of his hitches in the rest-house the light flashed on the Toronto net, as though Stamps had made good on one of their numerous sallies to Redmer's doorstep. However, it was all a mistake and the Cowboy's didn't even know he was in the crowd.

EAC Plans Withdrawal From Junior Ball Loop

EAC is pulling out of the Edmonton Junior Baseball league for the 1959 season.

That was the gist of a communication received by league secretary Edna Smith from EAC president H.L. (Bud) Williamson yesterday. Dufferin, about president of the erstwhile five-team circuit, called an emergency meeting of league managers immediately upon hearing of the EAC move.

Williamson will be held tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 in Sam's office in the Massey Harris building.

BACK NEXT YEAR Williamson stressed that his organization wished to withdraw for this season only. "We will leave our deposit with the league," said the EAC chairman last night, "on the understanding that we will attempt to field a team in the 1960 campaign."

Reason for the EAC withdrawal was simple enough: No one could be found to take over the responsibility of running the club.

No workouts were called this spring and EAC players have been drifting to the other EAC teams—CNR, South Side, Maple Leafs and Canads.

Said Williamson: "In the past I have managed the team myself. However, pressure of business prevents me from directing the club on this year."

OPPOSE IMPORTING EAC has never enjoyed too much success in a winning way in the past years in the Junior league. This season indicates that CNR, South Side and Canadas, possibly in that order, will be the power trio.

Leafan fans have been dejected following the loss of some players to the other teams. Bluebirds are not being counted upon to turn up the league for that reason.

For some time now EAC officials have been opposed to the so-called "importing" of players from outside points by other clubs, notably by CNR. They felt that such operations were not in keeping with the league's objective of providing baseball for Edmonton boys.

Canucks senior B' baseball squad will hold a practice tonight at the RCAP stadium at 6:30. Any players interested are welcome to the park walls.

Deadline Gittings

ST. LOUIS, May 9.—(AP)—Ted Wilks, star relief hurler for St. Louis Cardinals, was placed yesterday on the injured list after it was found he had developed a bone spur on his pitching elbow. He will undergo an operation Wednesday for removal of the spur.

Mariboros didn't like the interference penalty dished out to Frank Sullivan early in the final period. They held a convention around Monday while inquiring "what goes?"

Return of Sullivan was the signal for Mariboros to keep to the offensive and from this point Stamps started to stagger. Dertell made one of the top saves of the game on Armstrong, just getting a toe to a blatant drive along the line. Lewicki and Jack Taggart batted away at each other whenever the opportunity presented itself.

Taggart, who turned in a superlative performance, was never out of the game. He batted rear guard on the ice.

In other plays, Billie McMillan and Blair and Bolton v. Coffin . . . Lewicki did no more than tip the puck and he did not open the scoring finally, but on markers No. 2 and No. 3 he cut loose with a drive from behind the tapestry from behind Dertell.

Bob Brownridge, ex-Stamp who handles a commentary for local radio station, said Lewicki (surprise), Dertell and Bolton as his three "stars."

Stamps never got going, although Lewicki's third goal ended the game. But all but one save could get them off the hook . . .

At the "backlash" flash on his 15th save, he roared down the side for his final career. He had the side of the "backlash" "Babe" name, only a cowboy who had a chance to loop a lariat over him.

SUCCEEDS SMITH

Name West South Side President

West had hit a lot of golf balls in the years he has been associated with the fairways pastime.

And for the next while he'll be hitting the ball on an executive capacity as president of the South Side Athletic Association. He was elected to that position last night, succeeding Joe Smith.

Other officials appointed last night were secretary Bill Haddad, treasurer Dick King, and executive members Dick Edwards, Carmen Anderson, Wally Pollock, Red Turner, Marvin Miller, Earl Graham, Frank Cowles and Harvey Williams.

Several changes were made in the association's constitution, including the limiting of the active membership to 30. There will be no more "honorary" memberships, but the voting power in the organization will be controlled by the active members only.

The meeting reiterated 55A's aim of providing sports for the greatest possible number of boys. Past president Smith feels the surface has barely been scratched in this regard, and he said the aim can only be thoroughly developed in the future by the development of a full-time athletic director.

Deadlock In New Building For Teachers Highway in City

City commissioners will make another attempt to find Albert Teachers' Association new office accommodation.

Last night council was told a building permit for the association's proposed new $160,000 building is being held up because the city council is not in agreement with the city council on the building's location. The city council is not in agreement with the city council on the building's location. The city council is not in agreement with the city council on the building's location.

SRO SIGN FOR COUNCIL

It was "standing room only" for the second successive time at last night's city council meeting. Aldermen spent more than two hours hearing delegations. Spectators and petitioners were turned away from the overflowed into halls and adjoining committee rooms.

Council Authorizes Work; Disallows Costs Protests

City council last night decided to pave an additional two lanes of the Calgary highway from 55 avenue to city limits.

After an hour's debate over two protests, aldermen decided to charge 13 jobs of cost against adjoining property on each side.

Advertising of the job was done Jan. 14 and 21, but no protests were received by Feb. 4, appeared as late as last day for protests, commissioners said.

Feb. 13 they received a protest from C. S. Russell, who owns property fronting on 141 street for 1800 feet. He protested last night that he doesn't want to pay the cost of widening the artery for the benefit of tourists, oil companies, and bus and trucking concerns.

It was pointed out to him that he could apply to the provincial government to have his land removed from the city and placed under the adjacent municipality. Then the province itself would pay the full cost of widening Calgary highway past his property.

The second protest came from Bruce Smith, K.C., representing Industrial Assets Limited, an E. P. Taylor company. He said cost of widening two lanes of main artery should not be charged as a local improvement, especially when the adjoining property owners have not requested it.

INDUSTRIAL His client had bought an industrial site fronting the proposed widening road last fall, and since then the area has been removed from "outer zone" taxation. Taxes have jumped from $60 a year to $1,000 annually, but were not complaining about it.

They did object, however, to the cost of a widening program they did not ask for, and which would be an additional benefit to them.

Commissioners said that with the province widening the road up to the city limits to a four-lane width, the city is forced to follow the policy laid down in doing so, the policy laid down in doing so, the policy laid down in doing so.

It is known that charges for widening a 13 foot wide are being levied against adjoining property, and originally over that is borne by the city at large.

widening stiffer lines for speeding through school zones, and are predicted as exacerbation of council's recent action in boosting the cost for that offense to $1,000.

When the new traffic bylaw was passed.

Utilities committee will consider Edmonton Women's Institute request that bus stops at both ray way stations.

THE AGENDA

Business In Brief Before The Council

City council last night:

1-Sat fight on its previous decision to not interfere with excretion of a Ukrainian orthodox church.

2-Was told Alberta Teachers' Association's proposed office building blocks Town Planner Noel Davis proposed new perimeter road, and a building permit is being held up.

3-Extended Mr. Davis' interim development consent order another 14 weeks.

4-Decided to widen Calgary highway last inside the south city limits and charge the cost to adjoining property.

5-Adjoining property owners have not requested it.

CROSS-COUNTRY tour has given pretty Ling Toy a picture of Canadian women and their beauty habits. Miss Toy, a Canadian-born Chinese girl from Toronto is in Edmonton this week demonstrating for a well-known house of cosmetics.

Pretty Chinese Beautician Chides Western Women Here

By Mary Field
Chocolates and flowers? "My but isn't travelling fun?"
And Miss Ling Toy just smiled at the thought of the various "affairs" she has received on her tour. The attractive 24-year-old Canadian-born Chinese woman from Toronto is travelling across Canada demonstrating hair lacquer and its application.

Against a bright background of lanterns and pagodas, Miss Toy has been showing women from coast to coast the art of manicuring. "Everyone should give their nails some protection," she said in an interview here yesterday.

LACQUER PROTECTS
"If women don't care for colored nails, they should try the clear lacquer. Lacquer helps to harden the nails and saves them from chipping and splitting."

"Western women haven't as much confidence in their beautiful selves as their eastern sisters, smiled Miss Toy. They seem more wary of beauty aids, questioning their value. "Frustrated women have all the advantages of this wonderful, clear, open space. We easterners are too busy and busy for our own good. But we pay more attention to fashion, face and figure. Her musical laughter bubbled when she said, "That's a challenge for western women."

VISITOR SCOLDS
"You prairie girls say you work harder than we do... you haven't time for beauty beauty... you say you're ashamed of your hands, smiled Miss Toy. "You need to be ashamed of your hands. All they need is a little care. And with proper application, lacquer need only be applied once a week."

TRICKS OF TRADE
Miss Toy stressed the importance of base and top coats for a smooth, lasting job. Her modelling mannequins as if they had just had a fresh manicure.
"But," laughed Miss Toy, "it's week old and during demonstrations I have my fingernails removed. I just wait for the 'Oh's' when my lacquer stays perfect on nails adjoining the ones to which."

High Priced Vegetables Boycotted In Britain

Housewives Refuse Luxury-Cost Fresh Goods, Buy Lower-Priced Tinned Food
LONDON, May 8. — (Reuters) — British housewives organized country-wide boycott of high-priced vegetables began today. A record sale of canned goods was reported. Grocery stores predicted a shortage of canned vegetables if the run continues.

Housewives prepared to pay 6½ pence (about eight cents) for a can of peas rather than 12 pence (about 15 cents) for a pound of fresh peas.

Cans of sliced carrots were selling fast. They equal two pounds of fresh carrots and cost 7½ pence a tin. Fresh carrots cost 1s. 6d. a pound.

But as the boycott began, dissection broke out in the ranks of housewives' leaders.

Most organizations went ahead with the boycott—which has the approval of Food Minister Maurice Webb—but some leaders said they consider it unfair to start it until their probe into prices is completed.

The National Federation of Housewives, with a membership of more than 100,000, supported the boycott.

Mayor Orders Cleanup Drive In Edmonton

Mayor Sid Parsons has ordered a special cleanup campaign here this week.

He asked today for 100 per cent co-operation from every citizen and business establishment, in not only cleaning up but in keeping the city clean.

It started with a Sunday tour of the downtown area by His Worship, who said he was surprised to find that some business premises don't even have a garbage can but dump their refuse on the lane and "let it blow."

The area east of 97 street and north of Jasper he found particularly "frightful."

Yesterday he conferred with health and engineering officials. Today the drive was ordered.

MUST PROSECUTE

He said dome modification is needed in the traffic lanes to get cars off the streets at night.

"It's costing more to clean streets with cars parked on them," he said.

If the only way people will learn to keep the streets clear

Winnipeg Flood Victims Suffer Misery, Hardship

By Ken Lamb
Special to The Bulletin

WINNIPEG, Man., May 9.—(CPI)—The grim picture of the misery and hardship caused to thousands of Manitoba flood victims was etched on the faces of scores of men, women and children in relief centres here today.

Building Permits Hit Half Million For Second Day

City building permits today approached the half-million dollar mark for the second successive day.

The permits were granted for a $200,000 extension to the nurses' home at University hospital.

New West Homes took permit for 15 new homes worth $7,000 each to be built in the 81 block on 81 and 81 avenues.

Metropolitan United Church was granted a $5,000 permit for a new church hall at 8307-100 street.

Edmonton Senior Baseball League Ltd. took out a $3,800 permit for a press box and dugout at Renfrew Park.

The earliest part of Ceylon was made in the second century by Molony, a Greek astronomer.

As she kept one eye on her children playing with kiddy-cars and dolls, she waited anxiously for her husband to arrive with Red Cross tickets so that they could go out to the restaurant.

SILVER-LINING

Perhaps there would be a silver lining for Mrs. Rondeau. Her husband was a floor-sander and there would be lots of floor-sanding to be done after the flood.

Outside the barracks, 70-year-old John Kran, of Morris, 40 miles south of Winnipeg, was telling his story to several men of the neighborhood. Kran, who came to Canada from Russia in 1913, escaped from his home in a boat which took him to a neighborhood near From.

When he came by train to Winnipeg, "I left there was four inches of water on the floor. But friends who came here yesterday said the water now level with the windows."

"My little chickens were drowned," he said, "and six cows of whom we were sweet away in the flood."

FURNITURE RUINED

But worse than that, Kran's furniture was ruined.

"Before I left I took all the small pieces upstairs. I couldn't take the big pieces up because of a bend in the staircase. The furniture is under water and ruined," he said.

"Police have had to shoot cows in the streets," he said, "because there is no feed."

Unfortunately as he was, Kran was better off than other farmers in southern Manitoba. Many had watched their cattle drown. Others had had to shoot them. Many feared they would not be able to feed a crop this year because of the floods.

5,000 VICTIMS

Flood victims like the Krans numbered more than five thousand in Winnipeg alone. Hundreds of others were being cared for in other southern Manitoba towns.

On Main Street, in the heart of Winnipeg, the sound of pumps pouring water into the streets from the basements of buildings, sounded out the traffic noise.

In some buildings power was off. Some stores kept candles burning. Others gave their employees the day off.

Workers at the central registry were trying to find living space for 5,000 Winnipeggers and hundreds of persons who have been evacuated from other Red River settlements. Hotels were jammed.

Meanwhile, soldiers and Royal Canadian Mounted Police were arriving here from Regina, Calgary, and other cities.

British Naval Officer In City

On an inspection tour of Royal Canadian naval divisions, Capt. Robert Stirling-Hamilton, an officer in the Royal Navy, was in the city today.

The officer arrived through most of the Second World War aboard battleships in the Mediterranean.

He was aboard a U.S. aircraft that was forced down in the wilds of northern Manitoba about two years ago.

The party was rescued after a lengthy ordeal in the bushlands.

Capt. Stirling-Hamilton was credited with contributing materially to the survival by his resourcefulness and courage.

Barbados Visit To Be Followed By Deep Drilling

At least one company will begin deep drilling for oil in the Barbados within the next few months.

That was the report of Hon. N. E. Trevelyan, minister of mines and minerals for Alberta, who returned to Edmonton Tuesday after visiting the Barbados.

Mr. Trevelyan was invited to assist in the Imperial government formation of an oil policy.

Regulations governing exploration for oil and administration of oil policy have been completed, Mr. Trevelyan said.

Store Entered Second Time

Bricker's Children's Wear, 1120 Jasper avenue, took the brunt of overnight break-in again last night as thieves entered the store and stole $5.50 in cash from till and a cardboard box.

The robbery was a repeat of the break-in of May 8 after the store was closed off with $30 and a "bad" cheque.

In another break-in, at Calder General Store, 1178-120 avenue, thieves were apparently frightened away early this morning. Nothing was taken from ransacked premises, but large basket of groceries and meat found by police just inside window the thieves had broken to enter the store.

BICYCLE THEFTS

Outbreak of bicycle thefts also added to police worries yesterday. Three of the bicycles were taken from grounds of Jasper Place school between 12:30 and 4 p.m., police said.

On list of goods stolen in past two days was $100 German-made camera and $7 shaving set of Carl Anderson, Keesville, Alta. Anderson said the articles were taken from his car.

Fire extinguishers continue to disappear from Edmonton Transit Company buses, according to report received by police yesterday.

British Immigration Likely Study Topic

OTTAWA, May 9.—(CPI)—Canada's whole immigration policy is under review and many plans are being considered which may ultimately affect immigrants from Britain and other countries, an official of the immigration department said last night.

The official said he could not go into detail on what may ultimately be proposed, but indicated that possible aid for British immigrants is one of the things being considered.

Jet Fighters Make Mock Hawaii Attack

PEARL HARBOR, May 9.—(CPI)—Jet fighters from the carrier Veto Force roared over Pearl Harbor and downtown Honolulu today in a mock attack.

The jets were part of 125 planes from a joint U.S.-Canadian task force making a simulated attack on Oahu. Sixty-five Hawaiki-based navy and national guard planes put up a "no-mistake" defense.

The navy said defense planes and submarines have kept the 16-ship task force under observation since Sunday. The Canadian cruiser Ontario is participating.

The task force is expected to arrive today.

USAF Investigates Jet Limitations

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—The United States air force disclosed today it is making progress in efforts to overcome a major drawback of jet fighters — their limited range of flight. Recent experiments indicate that by refueling from tanker planes, the jet fighters can exceed bombers more than 1,500 miles and back, a round-trip total of 3,000 miles.

Pipelines In Commons Once Again

OTTAWA, May 8.—(CP)—The Commons heard more yesterday about the contentious pipeline issue.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, joined other opposition members in urging that the government force companies planning to construct oil and natural gas pipelines out of Alberta to follow all Canadian routes and serve Canada first before crossing into the United States.

The debate revolved on a private bill incorporating the National Gas Company. That company and Prairie Transportation Lines limited are seeking recognition preliminary to applying for the right to build a pipeline from Alberta fields to the Pacific Coast.

BACK IN COMMONS
The bill has been given second reading—approval in principle—passed by a committee of the Commons. They now are back in the Commons for clause-by-clause study by a committee of the whole House, and for adoption.

Mr. Drew said it was the responsibility of the government to declare its policy of a routing for the proposed pipeline.

Fire Extinguisher Believed American
STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 8.—The Swedish coast guard today sent American military authorities in Denmark a fire extinguisher believed to be from an American private plane which disappeared over the Baltic.

It was found Sunday on the shore

London Group Opens Dominion Drama Play

CALGARY, May 9.—(CP)—The Dominion Drama Festival opened last night with London Little Theatre Group's presentation of Robert Ardrey's philosophical drama "Thunder Rock."

Adjudicator Michel Saint-Denis called it a "good production of a difficult play."

Mr. Saint-Denis congratulated the company "on its daring in choosing a play which was as difficult to do as there were two or three moments when the play came close to perfection."

The festival—held in Alberta for the first time—was officially opened by Lord Governor J. J. Bowyer who added a Western touch to the colorful opening by wearing a white tunic and holding a bow.

MANY HOT SPOTS
Most satisfactory acting performance came from Walter Fendley as Dr. Stephen Kurtz, an American physician. Mr. Saint-Denis said this role was played with "simplicity and authority" and was the "most realistic."

Mr. Fendley, as Curtis Judd was "very good although not varied enough" and George Simpson as Briggs "showed great talent."

Production was good and the play was "seldom unconvincing."

The lighting was rather dull, Mr. Saint-Denis said.

Enquiry Progressing

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—Senator Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) said yesterday that "spring housecleaning" is going on in the State department's loyalty file in the cases of 81 persons who have been named as Communists or Red sympathizers.

department of an Edmonton department store, and Judith Morgan, who learned art at Alberni Residential School for Indians. Their work will be among 40 paintings displayed at Museum of Arts starting Wednesday.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD.—(AP)—Shirley Winters, answering reports that she is temperamental, declares that her press agents have been working overtime.

The blonde bombshell's latest encounter in print was when she more than it was worth," he remarked. "Somebody has told her the set of 'Frenchy' after a day that one side of her face is better than the other, which is a lot of publicity department tried foolishness. She looks good now to figure out how they could get either side. I told her I couldn't see a picture on the front page. She direct a picture if I had to work said. 'So they took a little incident under restrictions like that, and how it fit into the picture.'"

The "incident" concerned her both sides. She has done some of her best scenes in the picture since then. This sort of trouble happens on any picture."
